Target Market Determination

Introduction

This Target Market Determination (TMD) is required under section 994B of the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth) (Corporations Act). This TMD describes the class of investors that comprises the target market for the financial product and matters relevant to the product's distribution and review (specifically, distribution conditions, review triggers and periods, and reporting requirements). Distributors must take reasonable steps that will, or are reasonably likely to, result in distribution of the product being consistent with the most recent TMD (unless the distribution is excluded conduct).

This document is not a Product Disclosure Statement (PDS) and is not a complete summary of the product features or terms of the product. This document does not take into account any person's individual objectives, financial situation or needs. Persons interested in acquiring this product should carefully read the PDS for the product before making a decision whether to buy this product.

Important terms used in this TMD are defined in the TMD Definitions available at mlcam.com.au/TMD. Capitalised terms have the meaning given to them in the product's PDS, unless otherwise defined. The PDS can be obtained by visiting our website at mlcam.com.au/mlctrusts/pds or by contacting Client Services on 1300 738 355.

Investor attribute definitions

Investors should refer to the 'TMD definitions' available at mlcam.com.au/TMD for the definitions of the investor attributes (that is, the terms used in the 'Investor attributes' column in the table below).

Appropriateness

The Issuer has assessed the product and formed the view that the product, including its key attributes, is likely to be consistent with the likely objectives, financial situation and needs of investors in the target market as described below. The attributes of the product in the 'Product description including key attributes' column of the table below are consistent with the corresponding investor attributes identified with a green rating in the 'TMD indicator' column.

Investment products and diversification

An investor (or class of investor) may intend to hold a product as part of a diversified portfolio (for example, with an intended product use of minor allocation). In such circumstances, the product should be assessed against the investor's attributes for the relevant portion of the portfolio, rather than the investor's portfolio as a whole. For example, an investor may seek to construct a balanced or moderate diversified portfolio with a minor allocation to growth assets. In this case, a product with a high risk/return profile may be consistent with the investor's objectives for that minor allocation notwithstanding that the risk/return profile of the investor as a whole is medium. In making this assessment, distributors should consider all features of a product (including its key attributes). Please note that an 'Investor's intended product use', which sets out the percentage of Investable Assets, is defined as based on all of the assets that the investor has available for investment (excluding the residential home). It is not intended to be limited to only, for example, the relevant portion of assets the investor is currently intending to invest.
